

The house of Martin Melwig is red and has a wooden roof. Martin is living with both his sister and brother and now needs to move to another city in order to join his wife.